Election of United States Senators. The law of the United States providing for the election of United States senators is comprehensive in its requirements. It provides for the election of senators for There is no hope for us except in uniting full terms and to fill any sort of vacancy our fortunes with those of that great party that may occur, or, as Senator Hn.L. of Georgia, once interpreted the constitutional requirements, "that may happen to occur." And yet under this law the Legislature of Louisiana has for a long time been trying in vain to elect a United evil report and good-in sunshine and in States senator to represent that State. The members have become disgusted with their failure to succeed in performing so simple a duty, and have determined, so it is said, to go every day through the forms prescribed by the national law on the subject, but not try to elect a United States senator at this term of the Legislature. However, the Legislature has passed a Democratic party for its declaration in resolution asking the Louisiana Senators favor of the abolition of the national tax and Representatives in Congress to urge an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing that United States senators shall be elected by a direct vote of the

The United States Senate has been declared to be a body of millionaires. We nounced in Iowa. We are safe from " wildsuppose the statement is true as to a majority of the senators. However, as old Joz Brown once said to a reporter who questioned him upon the point under consideration, "a million of dollars is a good deal of money." Virginia certainly cannot be charged with having millionaire | tem is abandoned a better one will have United States senators.

There is now pending in the national House of Representatives a joint resolu-tion proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing that United States senators shall be elected by the people of the several States. It was fought CLEVELAND'S nomination "from reported on the 16th of February last by start to finish" from the conviction that Mr. Tucken, of Virginia, and referred to be was not the most available candidate, the House calendar and ordered to be but that he was quick in accepting the printed. That resolution proposes to make the Constitution read as follows: "The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each State elected by the people thereof for six years, and each senator shall have one vote." The joint resolution also proposes that the qualifications of electors of United States senators shall be the same as those for representatives in Congress. It also pro ses to abrogate Article I., section 4, clause 1, of the Federal Constitution so far as it remote and contingent, over the election of United States senators and make the gives to Congress any control, absolute or of United States senators, and make that next to watch and thwart Stevenson in clause read as follows -

"The times, places, and manner of holding s for senators shall be as prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof."

There is no danger that the State legislatures will fail to provide for the election of United States senators; but this appre hension will be urged as an objection to the proposed amendment, and will pro-bably have the effect of defeating it. It would be well to have two joint resolutions, each one proposing one of the amendments tayored by Mr. Tuckes's committee. Three fourths of the State legislatures might be in favor of the election of United States senators by the people and yet opposed to the other suggested amendment which we have just

A United States Senate elected by the people would be a very different body from the present Senate. It would be in a peculiar sense the guardian of the pecple's rights.

World's-Fair Commission Bankrupt The World's Columbian Commission is reported to have exhausted its treasury. Its last postage-stamp has gone off on a begging letter, and the commission will soon have to suspend its work unless Congress comes to its aid.

All that can be done now is to compe the commission to pay some little attention to economy. In like manner members of Congress have been made acquainted with the aims of the commission, and we may be quite sure that a large appropriation will be voted. The "general alarm" sent out in the notice that the commission is bankrupt was only intended to stir up congressmen. The will do.

"But Is It Deadly?" A paragraph in yesterday's Baltimore Sun says that the fear of the deadly trolley evidently does not extend to St. Louis, where a cable-road was recently changed to use electricity and where a single plant of 25,000-horse power will be set up to run system of roads now operated by horse

The facts recited go to disprove the theory that the trolley is "deadly." Such a term ought not to be applied to it in the absence of justification for its use. Electric propulsion would not have been substituted for the cable if the trolley were what so many uninformed persons sup-
